As an Associate in PilieroMazza's Government Contracts Group, Daniel's practice centers on providing legal support to businesses operating in the federal procurement space. He works with clients on all matters relating to government contracts law, including handling the bid protest process at various fora (including the U.S. Government Accountability Office, the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, and the Federal Aviation Administration's Office of Dispute Resolution for Acquisition), assisting with requests for equitable adjustment (REAs), claims, and appeals to the relevant Boards of Contract Appeals (U.S. Civilian Board of Contract Appeals and U.S. Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals), drafting and negotiating teaming agreements, subcontracts, and non-disclosure agreements, and navigating the Small Business Administration's Federal contracting and loan assistance programs.

Daniel also helps on other miscellaneous government contracts matters, including disputes pertaining to Contractor Performance Assessment Reports (CPARs), data rights issues, and cybersecurity compliance. Furthermore, he defends parties proposed for suspension and debarment, assists with mergers and acquisitions, prepares contract novation requests, and handles appeals from SBA final loan review decisions (related to the Paycheck Protection Program (PPP)) as well as size and status determinations before the SBA's Office of Hearings and Appeals.
