Tim represents businesses in a variety of government contracting matters. He is experienced with bid protests at GAO and COFC and size and status protests before SBA. Tim also advises government contractors on regulatory compliance matters, focusing on issues specific to the small business programs and data rights for intellectual property. As a member of PilieroMazza's False Claims Act and Audits & Investigations Team, his regulatory compliance work extends to helping companies identify and mitigate risks of noncompliance in the event of an audit or investigation.

Tim works closely with the firm's Business & Corporate Group to help businesses navigate the complexities of mergers and acquisitions involving government contracts. He is adept at the preparation and submission of novations and change of name packages.

Tim counsels employers on a broad range of employment and labor issues, including contract disputes, wrongful termination, FLSA compliance, business torts, Title VII and ADA compliance, and non-competition and non-disclosure agreements.

Prior to joining PilieroMazza, Tim worked as a Law Clerk for a large government contractor at the U.S. Department of Justice on civil litigation involving the ADA. He also developed experience in all aspects of litigation while clerking for Judge John M. Mott at D.C. Superior Court on a civil docket and on some criminal matters.
